SAFER SEX BOOKLET

The Safer Sex Booklet is now updated, more comprehensive, and includes topics about safer scenes. These include scene etiquette, power play, negotiation, and more. Get yours FREE today at the Registration Desk or download at: <https://nelaonline.org/publications/safer-sex-booklet>

AN ACCESSIBLE FLEA

It is our goal to make the Fetish Fair Fleamarket™ welcoming and accessible to attendees with disabilities and where people with disabilities are valued and respected. Here's some things you can do to help:

- Ask and wait for an answer before you try to help someone. What you assume is helpful may not be.
- When you encounter someone using a service animal do not pet, offer food to, or interact with the animal in any way. Do not comment on the dog's presence i.e. "and who do we have here?" Service animals are working hard; you are supporting the independence and autonomy they provide by not distracting them.

- If you have questions, concerns or need assistance regarding access, please stop by the Registration Desk on the first floor where wristbands are purchased to contact an Accessibility Assistant.
- In order to make classes more accessible there will be designated seating for persons with disabilities in each classroom (as well as space for scooters/wheelchairs). We ask all FFF attendees to be respectful of these seats and make them available for their stated purpose. The seats will be released if not needed before each class begins. Please be prepared to move chairs to make room for people using scooters/wheelchairs, wherever they may wish to sit.

NELA is committed to improving accessibility at the Fetish Fair Fleamarket™. This effort is a work in progress. Email chair@NELAonline.org with suggestions, questions or requests.

TRANSGENDER ETIQUETTE

There are many people who are transgender (Transsexual, Gender Queer, Crossdresser, Gender Variant, and more) that attend the Fetish Fair Fleamarket. People who are transgender and/or whose gender identity or expression does not conform to stereotypes of male or female often face discrimination and harassment, particularly when accessing public spaces, events, and restrooms. To be inclusive and improve the quality of life for people who are transgender people, please read and act upon the following:

RESTROOMS

One way of acknowledging the needs of people who are transgender is to both designate restrooms that are gender-neutral and also to allow people to use the gender-designated restroom that they identify with. In public restrooms, many people who are transgender face harassment that can lead to anything from deep discomfort to arrest or murder. Regardless of what restroom you are in, please let everyone use the restroom in peace. Each of us can decide for ourselves in which restroom we belong. Gender-neutral restrooms are located throughout the hotel.

PRONOUNS

A person's external appearance may not match their internal gender identity. You cannot always know the gender or sex of someone by their physical body, voice, appearance or mannerisms. It is best to ask, "What pronoun do you prefer?" or "How do you identify?" before using pronouns or gendered words. In group situations where you don't have an opportunity to ask someone what words they prefer, try using gender-neutral phrases like "the person in the red shirt," instead of "that woman or man."

PRIVACY AND RESPECT FOR ALL PARTICIPANTS

Please respect the privacy and boundaries of people who are transgender and do not ask unnecessary questions. If someone discloses they are transgender, do not "out" (expose the identity) of the person who is transgender to other people. The person who is transgender may feel comfortable coming out to you, but may not wish to be out to other people.

WELCOME

Welcome, Fetish Fair Fleamarket 44 Attendees!

The Fetish Fair Fleamarket (FFF) 44 finds us returning to our new home in Warwick, RI. The FFF was started 22 years ago by Cecelia Tan—please stop by her vending room and check out her books, Circler Press has a lot of great works to offer. Some time ago Cecelia generously granted the rights to all FFFs in New England to the New England Leather Alliance (NELA), but there's more to NELA than just the FFFs. NELA is a 501c3 non-profit organization dedicated to making a safe place in the world for all leather / fetish / BDSM people through education, advocacy, and charitable giving. NELA uses the FFFs to not only provide education and community group involvement at the event, but also as the financial engine to support our work through the whole of the year.

NELA's educational programming and SIG meetings continue year-round, so come out to see us throughout the year. You can find us at most New England Prides—come visit our booth, or better yet, march with us! You can support NELA in other ways, too—you can get involved with NELA! Not a NELA Associate yet? Has your time expired? Come by our table all weekend and get or update your NELA Associates Benefit Card (ABC) which entitles you to free or reduced-rate admission to NELA events throughout New England, discounts on merchandise from a number of vendors, and discounts to get into many other non-NELA events. Revenue from the NELA merchandise we offer in return for donations also supports our work, so if you get yourself a spiffy new NELA t-shirt, hoodie, mug, or lunch box, you're helping to support our charitable and advocacy giving. Our work is never finished, and there are never enough hands – want to help out at more than just the Flea? Come to our NELA Board meetings (currently the 3rd Thursday of each month – see the NELA Calendar, <https://nelaonline.org/about-us/calendar>, for more details) and find out what we're doing and how you can help.

And that's the most important part—helping. Our charitable giving and our support of a number of special programs help build our community. We support other worthwhile organizations both at home and across the country like The Network/La Red, AIDS Care Ocean State (see them in Room 101 Saturday and Sunday for free HIV and Hep C testing!), and the NCSF. We also have special programs like the 'Ayem Willing' Volunteer Travel Fund, which assists volunteers to travel to events and return with education which they might not otherwise be able to reach.

We hope NELA's advocacy will continue to help our world become a safer and happier place for those of us in our varied communities to be able to express our sexuality. While NELA continues to change and adapt to the needs of our community, once again our main focus remains unchanged: NELA's commitment to its mission of education, advocacy, and charitable giving. Your continued presence at the FFF helps support that mission; thank you for joining us this weekend, and making this the great event that it is.

Greetings Fellow Kinkfolk,

Welcome to the 44th incarnation of the Fetish Fair Fleamarket®. We want to welcome you back to our new(ish) homes, the Crowne Plaza Warwick and Holiday Inn Express Warwick, and returning to our traditional (for most of the last decade) date of Presidents' Day Weekend. We do hope that this will become our venue and weekend for some time to come.

We sincerely want you to have a fun-filled and safe weekend. Please respect the hotel as if it were your home; playing and shopping responsibly goes a long way to achieving that. Our event has never allowed nudity and we ask that in public spaces, especially areas outside our checkpoints, you exercise good taste. All of us differ in our abilities and skills, please be mindful of those who might not be as agile or facile. What we do is based on the cornerstone of consent. Please be sure consent is in everything that you do. If you feel unsafe or uncomfortable at any time please seek out a NELA officer or a member of our Safety Staff, or if neither is available, a member of the hotel staff. If you are feeling unwell, we have arranged for the medical services of Operation Hammond to assist you.

Flea guests may purchase admission wristbands Friday night from 5pm-9pm, Saturday from 8am-8pm, and Sunday from 9am-3pm. NELA Associates have a chance to get a jump on the shopping for a half-hour before everyone has access to the vendors at 10:30am on Saturday and Sunday, so if you want that one-of-a-kind thing, or want to beat the crowds, you can start then! Classes and social activities run from a little after 6pm on Friday through 1am Saturday, 9am on Saturday through 1am Sunday, and 10am on Sunday through 3:15pm.

Our first year in Warwick was a success—while there were certainly bumps in the road, things went much better than could be expected for a first-time-in-a-new-home event. Due to your feedback, we have shifted some things around this year, so please, continue to give us feedback. We want to continue to build this community, bring you education that you want, and make a large variety of vendors available to you. This year we hope to provide you with an even better event; among other changes, vending has been consolidated to a single vending-bedroom hallway and the Grand Ballroom and Foyer; class spaces have been altered or relocated to better accommodate our attendees' needs; and while the RKO Army returns to present a more... interesting... version of Rocky Horror on Friday night, we have a new set of Saturday night events. We've also tried to enhance the services available to you with the addition of Operation Hammond and increased Safety Team presence, Valet Parking options, and staffing from the hotel in several areas, most notably in food services. Each year we attempt to polish and improve this long-running event (now in its 22nd year!) based on your feedback. We hope that you enjoy the differences.

Percy, FFF 44 Convention Chair

Beyond 50 Shades: Realities of Power Exchange: D/s Dynamics for the Beginner or Battle-Scarred

Carl / Lisa—P&AE—Wickford—Fri 8:00 PM
Love it or hate it, the 50 Shades series has opened the floodgates of interest in power exchange, which is both good news and bad. The good news? It has acted as a catalyst, awakening many people to dominant or submissive desires that may have otherwise remained buried for years or even a lifetime. The bad news? Many of those newly awakened people may never venture beyond the books (and now, the movie) as their source of "education"—equating those fictional, fantasy portrayals of power exchange as fact. Regardless of how your interest in exploring power exchange dynamics began, if you are ready to investigate what lies beyond the boundaries of a scene on Saturday night, you'll want to attend this interactive presentation.

Samantha—Comms—Barrington—Sun 11:45 AM

For kinksters, abuse is a particularly thorny subject, as there are empowering and healthy dynamics that seem abusive to the outside observer. In this class, we will drill down to the fundamentals of human connection as they relate to kink and power exchange relationships. We will challenge the common narratives and turn preconceived notions about abuse inside out. We will explore how abuse can manifest, how communities and individuals can respond, and how to promote a culture of transparency and healing.

Comprehensive Introduction to the World of BDSM

Dr. Bob—Gen Skills—Tiverton—Fri 9:45 PM
BDSM (not Leather)—what's it really all about? Options for getting involved: munches, clubs, demos, parties. People—how to approach others without being a "creeper" (or appearing "needy") and how to say "no, thank you." Not all the "bad guys" are guys—things we don't think much about, but should. How to play and be played safely: knowing your needs, not playing beyond your abilities/skills, negotiations, and mentors. Party protocols not only to improve scenes, but also to protect scenes. Bringing energy and clarity to your BDSM life—being a good Top and bottom. Now: what it's all about, really—using BDSM for connection and transcendence.

Considerations for Trans*/Cis Erotic Play

Wintersong—Gender—Barrington—Sat 1:00 PM
It's awesome when two or more people are interested in play, sex, or dating. When one or more of those people are trans*, and one or more of them are cis, there are particular communication strategies, pressures, joys, and other considerations, that can be valuable to acknowledge and work with. Whether you're looking for a quick pickup or a lasting relationship, this workshop will help provide you with concrete tools and strategies for how these interactions can and do work.

Control By Pressure Point

Dunter—Impact—Wickford—Sat 2:45 PM
Pressure point displacement knowledge originates from ancient Chinese martial arts. Pressure points are executed by pressing specific body parts to gain a certain desired reaction of physical control that may or may not illicit pain. This method of control can be used without brute strength. This is a part-lecture / part hands-on workshop which will cover the anatomy, technique, safety, and after care of applying pressure to the most sensitive internal and external points on the body.

Murphy Blue—Movement—Wickford—Sun 11:45 AM
Everyone knows that, with good music, Murphy Blue is not one to stay still. Learn from him how to move your ropes, your partners, and yourself to the music of the Dungeon.

Dark Role Play

Aiden Fyre—Role Play—Greenwich—Sat 8:00 PM
Join us as we explore the shadowy realms of fantasies and roles we can try on: abduction, abuse, torture, snuff, fantastical realms and anywhere else our twisted minds can dream up! We will discuss the joys of playing in our closet, why it turns us on, how to bring it up and negotiate our desires, how to make it happen, and troubleshoot the challenges this stuff can bring up.

Introduction to Sacred Sexuality: An Overview

Magentarayne—Spirituality—Rhode Island—Sat 10:45 AM
What is Sacred Sexuality? It's become a buzzword in the kink community, the alternative healing community, the yoga community... its even referred to in hushed tones in more open minded "mainstream" religions. But what is it, exactly? Is it just Tantra? Is it a form of sexual intimacy only open to those who are believers in a sentient God? This class will go over, in a general way, the various paths that fall under the umbrella of 'Sacred Sexuality.'

Making a Skill a Scene

Lord Ramirez—Gen Skills—Greenwich—Sat 4:30 PM
There is a difference between the use of the implement for a sensation experience, and making the use of a single skill for a great scene. This becomes the difference between those who might be able to "use a flogger" vs. those who "do a great flogging scene." All too often in the rush to become "competent" we lose sight of what separates the student from the master, the ability to create art from the skill. In this class Ramirez will explain how to take a single skill and turn it into a great scene.

Mental Health Roundtable

Samantha—Comms—Patriots—Sat 10:45 AM
No one can ever be 100% emotionally stable 100% of the time in the default world, let alone the scene. Inevitably, our emotional and psychological well being affects how we play and how we relate to the community at large. Some of us have issues related to our brains' hard wiring, some of us suffer the repercussions of past trauma, and others still may feel the weight of grief, loss, or stress. This panel is designed to address the challenges that can arise when, for whatever reason, our emotional health is compromised when we engage in kinky spaces. We will learn, share, and connect with one another on issues that are pressing, yet perhaps not widely discussed.

Still Kinky After All These Years: Playing Post-TNG

Graydancer—Gen Skills—Tiverton—Fri 6:15 PM

As the kink community grows older, more people are having to learn how to adapt their play styles to the changes as their bodies and minds age. Is it different to be in rope at 40 than at 20? How do slave positions and arthritis mix? And think of the children! Graydancer, a veteran dancer, grandfather, and crotchety dom, gives some solid suggestions for physical and mental resilience and adaptability to keep your play hot when you're beyond those TNG years.

Submitting with Strength: Drop Your Panties for That Spanking, Not Your PersonalityGRLee—P&AE—Kingston—Sun 11:45 AM

We need to submit, and we are also strong, independent people with thoughts, and the need to express them freely and sometimes with volume. Can we be submissive with a dominant personality and what does that mean? How do these two halves co-exist without implosion? How do you make it work in your relationship with your Dominant? This discussion is open to all levels of the power exchange.

Come join us as we talk about burnout, reputations, speed bumps, flameouts, and how to not screw yourself over in the pursuit of fun.

Tell Me What You Want, What You Really Really WantLaura Antoniou—P&AE—Ocean—Fri 9:45 PM

Often, when we try to tell our partners what we like or want, our words are filtered through things like expectations, projection, fear, shame, and verbal shortcuts. Play a little card game with Laura and push your flirting talents up a notch! Expand your creativity and verbal skills beyond “I like flogging” or “anything you want” through an interactive game and exercise. Learn how creative communication and courageous risk-taking can make your relationship and play more intimate, satisfying, and fun. Say what you mean, and mean what you say—and make it seductive.

That Ain't Necessarily So: Lies, Exaggerations & Silly Shit You Keep Hearing In the SceneLaura Antoniou—Gen Skills—Tiverton—Sat 6:15 PM

A true dominant will never bottom. We're all safe, sane, and consensual. Kinky people are smarter and more creative. Safewords are necessary. Verbs are nouns. There are no rules. There are rules. How many times have you heard people state, with authority and assurance, something that sounds absolute and yet maybe a little fishy? How many times have you passed on a fact or truth or rule you secretly question, or realized much later that you had been misinformed? For a scene supposedly based on open and honest communication (hah!) we tell each other—and sometimes ourselves—a lot of things that ain't necessarily so. Whether you are new and soaking it up like a sponge or an old hand and ready to speak truth to kink, come on in for a look at some of the top deceptions, inventions, and whoppers we pass around!

The Art of the Sensual KimonoLord Ramirez—P&AE—Barrington—Sun 1:45 PM

This class can help anyone (new or advanced) learn some tricks to tame time.

Princess Kali will share dozens of concrete examples for both Tops AND Bottoms on how to get more inventive in designing your play time. Using inexpensive resources, imaginative mindsets and ‘real world’ situations that will help keep your play hot and happening often, without putting in any extra work! tions, and identifies boundaries. With the right tools, it can also be hot, seductive, and wickedly effective. We'll explore: What is the real purpose of negotiation? Where does negotiation end and the scene begin? What objectives should you pursue when you negotiate? When should your negotiation NOT lead to a scene? What is your negotiation style? Does your style suite your purpose and persona? What are some specific techniques for eliciting engagement, obtaining consent, and gathering information? Learn how to negotiate more powerfully and effectively. You're scenes will be better for it.

Pushing is controversial in our consent-oriented culture, yet it's an intrinsic part of most scenes. Join Max as he addresses this dilemma head-on.

Tops Are from Mars, Bottoms Are from Venus:

Bridging The Communication Gap

Cecilia Tan—P&AE—Wickford—Fri 9:45 PM

Communication is the basis of consent, isn't that what we say in the BDSM world? We've developed many techniques to facilitate that communication, from negotiation checklists to safewords. But why do these techniques fail? We'll unpack the twisty innards of masochistic and submissive mindset and discuss some less-than-logical aspects of human psychology that even kinky folks are prone to.

Troubleshooting Kink, Now With Less Drama!

Samantha—Comms—Patriots—Fri 9:45 PM

Things don't always go according to plan. Sometimes an unexpected trigger or limit flares up, a signal is misinterpreted, or communication fails. These situations are hard to anticipate, and can shake a person to their very core. As hard and scary as a scene gone wrong can feel, it does not have to end in further explosions or hurt feelings! With the right kind of repair work, it is even possible to build deeper connections and lasting healing for everyone involved. This class will help you build the skills you need to problem solve and prevent future SNAFUs.

Why Are We Clashing Like This? Exploring Common Communication Upsets

Dr. Bob—P&AE—Rotunda—Sun 10:00 AM

Relationships in our BDSM community are often more complex than marriages. The s-type is working 100% to please Master/Dom(me), and Master/Dom(me) is endeavoring to guide and grow the slave/submissive. "Stuff" can often get in the way of clear communication. When communications get in trouble, the relationship gets in trouble. About half of this presentation will go over conflicts arising from areas where differences between people are often hidden, such as how we communicate love, how time may be different for each partner, how upbringing may affect your current relationship, how we process information, and so forth.

Your Hypnotic Self: Becoming a More Effective Erotic Hypnotist

Learn about developing your unique hypnotic style to help to build fun, successful, satisfying scenes.
